Andrew helps companies buy, sell, finance and lease commercial real estate. He also facilitates client savings through private energy supply transactions.

Andrew counsels REITs and other publicly-traded companies, as well as privately held entities and family office clients.

He negotiates, documents and closes acquisitions, dispositions and financings across the spectrum of commercial real estate sectors, including apartment properties, self-storage facilities, retail centers, office buildings, medical facilities, hotels and industrial properties. Andrew also has significant experience representing national and regional landlords and tenants in a wide range of leasing matters.

Additionally, on behalf of his commercial real estate clients, Andrew negotiates energy supply agreements with utilities and private suppliers.
